A network developed by early-career researchers for early-career researchers

GOALS

The PAGES ECN aims to facilitate the exchange of ideas and skill sets, and provide additional tools for early-career researchers to excel in their fields.

Our goals are to:

- Aid in the dissemination of information
- Establish vital scientific networks
- Increase the visibility of ECRs and their work
- Improve writing and reviewing skills
- Foster the development of ideas that can lead to future research collaborations and improved job prospects.

IMPLEMENTING OUR GOALS

- Webinars, splinter meetings, and workshops: To foster career development and improve skill sets of early-career researchers.
- Our early-career blog: To increase the visibility of ECRs and their work, and to give ECRs a platform to share experiences and views with a wide audience.
- Newsletter, job database and social media: To keep you informed on everything that is going on.
